

THE TRUTH AND A SIMPLE SOLUTION THAT WILL COLLAPSE THE UNLAWFUL POWER OF THE BANKERS FOREVER!

It would appear that a massive financial collapse has started – a collapse that will completely eclipse the crash of 2007-08.

But it can all be stopped immediately by mobilising the common sense and proven principle of National or Public Credit! In other words, by bringing back the debt-free 1914 Treasury-issued Bradbury Pound!

Part One

Battle-bowlers on everyone! It's time to take cover!

One month into 2016 and it would seem a perfect financial storm is starting to unleash itself upon the world. Let's look very quickly at what we know is happening at the time of writing. There would appear to be a run on the Italian banks starting; the stock markets around the world are becoming very jittery as many investors believe a bear market is taking over; the collective market value of companies on the S&P 500 Index has dropped by about a trillion dollars; we have seen the Chinese suspend trading twice in four days with January 7th seeing China's stock market crash 7% overnight; the Dow Jones Industrial Average is down 1,500 points in the past ten trading days; and we are told that the NASDAQ has been 'slammed'.

And whilst all this is happening, the price of oil has collapsed to the lowest point in twelve years with some predictions saying that it could fall as low as $10 a barrel! And hovering over all of this bad news is the ultimate Sword of Damocles – the out of control, casino style Derivatives Market whose ridiculous and insane debt bubble has now reached something in the region of $2 quadrillion!

But let's not be taken in by any of this bad economic news and turmoil in the markets. It's all completely contrived! The secretive and completely unaccountable global financial elite have planned this collapse. Using their privately run central banking system that's led by their secretive and very little known Bank for International Settlements (BIS), and aided by the better known International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank, these international bankers have usurped the right of sovereign nations to issue and control their own money.

And they are now ready with their newly created 'bail-in' powers to fleece wealthy and not so wealthy bank depositors of their money. Indeed, when you open this link (<http://theeconomiccollapseblog.com/archives/january-1-2016-the-new-bank-bail-in-system-goes-into-effect-in-europe>), you will see that the unelected and unaccountable European Commission, a creation of the mindset that is behind the global financial system, has used the so-called European Court of Justice to bully six countries into accepting these 'bail-in' laws by January 1st 2016. Just a coincidence, I'm sure you'll agree, absolutely nothing to worry about?

And something else which is now becoming increasingly obvious is how the private banking elites are rushing to persuade people to accept a completely cashless society – a society where all monetary transactions are done electronically with the private financial sector in complete charge of the people's access to their money or, more accurately, their units of exchange. This really is an Orwellian nightmare in the making! How do you buy a loaf of bread or a pint of milk if 'they', the bankers, deem you unworthy and cut you off without explanation from having your money!
<http://www.activistpost.com/2016/01/cashless-society-war-intensifies-during-global-epocalypse.html>

This new financial collapse, when it comes, will almost certainly dwarf the last major crisis of 2007-08. It is seen as an essential step towards the global financial elite's insane and dangerous Orwellian goal of achieving some sort of corporate-based global governance, a New World Order as they call it. By stealing the real wealth of sovereign nations through the use of usury, deception and provable fraud, and by replacing the ordinary people's hard won freedoms with debt slavery, unrestricted state surveillance and the imposed precedence of a myriad of corporate rules and regulations, we are seeing the start of a new global feudal system whereby the corporate and banking elite, the 'one per cent', completely control the lives of the rest of us. And because of our collective ignorance, arrogance and stupidity, they are being allowed to get away with this!

However, this appalling situation has only been allowed to happen because we, the British people, have allowed over the centuries a usury-led criminal mind-set that's made up of wealthy investors, bankers and merchants, to make their home within the City of London and to establish what has become the world's leading financial centre which harnesses usury, deception and fraud in order to deprive sovereign nations from being able to create, issue and control their own money free from debt. As a nation we have a lot to answer for by allowing this to happen.....but we now have a chance to redeem ourselves by putting to an immediate end this planned global financial collapse, not to mention the elite's plans for global governance!

If this all sounds too fantastic to be true, it's because we have all been programmed by economists, academia and the mainstream media to believe that the creation, issuance and control of money is something that is hugely complex and well beyond the comprehension of your average individual. We have all been deceived.....big time! Nothing, in fact, could be further from the truth as you will see!

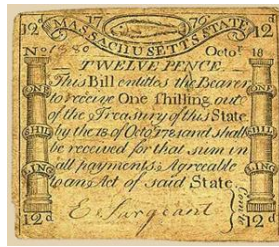

A simple and provable solution that worked brilliantly!

We are told by our elected politicians, system-serving economists and the bankers themselves, that when the British government's taxation receipts are outweighed by the government's expenditure needs, then the difference, the so-called 'deficit', has to be borrowed from the private financial sector – the same sector that is allowed by our politicians to create money completely out of thin air as debt and that when this money or, more accurately, this nothingness has been passed over to HM Treasury as a loan, we, the taxpayers, have to then pay the interest on this nothingness – currently that is costing us around £52 billion a year, or £1 billion a week. Please wake up people, this is complete insanity!

But before we go any further, let's just consider what 'money' actually is – the only common sense definition is this: Money is simply a convenient unit of exchange for goods and services that people have complete confidence in. That's it! And the most important responsibility that any elected government of a sovereign nation has for its electorate is to create, issue and control the money, or liquidity needed for that nation's people to be happy, secure and prosperous. Again, that's it! And this sovereign money, this National or Public Credit, is created by that government's treasury (and not through a privately controlled central bank) as debt-free and interest-free money because it is based entirely on the existing wealth and potential of that nation. It really isn't rocket science! And the debt-creating private financial sector, with its corrupt central banking system, has absolutely no need whatsoever to be involved!

And if you believe that this is all too good to be true, history can prove otherwise. In 18th century America the American Colonials used a paper currency called 'Scrip' that was debt-free and interest-free and was based entirely on the wealth and potential of the colonies – a currency that was brought to an end by the City of London and which was probably the real reason for the American War of Independence (<http://www.opednews.com/articles/How-Benjamin-Franklin-Caus-by-Mike-Kirchubel-110711-773.html>).

Colonial Scrip

Later on, Abraham Lincoln, during the American Civil War, had the US Treasury create and issue debt-free and interest-free 'Greenback Dollars' which were based on the wealth and potential of the Union – a move that created the essential liquidity needed for the North to beat the Confederate South. When Lincoln was assassinated, the 'Greenback' was phased out as the private bankers moved in with their debt-creating usury (<http://www.michaeljournal.org/lincolnkennedy.htm>).

The Greenback Dollar

And even the little island of Guernsey also harnessed debt-free and interest-free paper money with the 'Guernsey Pound' in order to rebuild the island's infrastructure after the Napoleonic Wars without incurring debt. This worked so successfully that it was targeted by the Bank of England and the City of London so as to bring it to an end (<http://www.michaeljournal.org/guernsey.htm>).

The Guernsey Pound

And then we had the Bradbury Pound which was brought in by a frightened House of Commons at the outbreak of the First World War in order to avoid a catastrophic run on the banks just as the country was mobilising for war. It worked brilliantly until the bankers realised that this debt-free and interest-free money that was being created and issued by HM Treasury (not the privately run Bank of England) and which was based entirely on Britain's wealth and potential, would mean that they, the bankers, couldn't make a killing out of the killing on the Western Front!

Needless to say that this unprofitable situation for the private banks was then changed immediately without any proper debate in Parliament, with the Bradbury being downgraded and eventually phased out in favour of HM Government borrowing interest-bearing debt or nothingness from the City of London to fight the war thus causing Britain's national debt to soar whilst making huge profits for the private bankers! The full and fascinating story of the very little known Bradbury Pound can be found here: <http://www.ukcolumn.org/article/bankers-bradburys-carnage-and-slaughter-western-front>.

Rushed through in three days – the first batch of Bradburys were printed on stamp paper on one side only.

So there you have it – history has proved that sovereign nations, through their treasuries, can provide all the debt-free and interest-free liquidity needed to ensure that the peoples of the world have the essentials to enjoy happy, healthy and prosperous lives. And please don't respond to this simple and completely provable fact by saying, as many ill informed people do, "you can't just print money – you'll have inflation, even hyper-inflation!" No you won't because appropriate, targeted and intelligent taxation would then be used by sovereign governments to remove any inflationary pressures! It's not rocket science, it's just simple common sense supported by the truth....the simple truth that the City of London and the Bank for International Settlements would rather you didn't know!

Later examples of the Treasury Bradbury Pound.

Another knee-jerk reaction we get from some system-serving economists and politicians to the simplicity of the Treasury-issued Bradbury Pound is that the principle of National or Public Credit already exists in the form of Quantitative Easing (QE). When you feed this complex fiscal process into any search engine, you will quickly see a myriad of articles written by so-called financial experts and media commentators. What immediately comes across is that this is not a straight forward, and some would say common sense process for money or liquidity creation - it is controversial and some argue that its effects are open to question. Many believe that it is only the private banking system that really benefits from QE and that the bottom line is that it is simply more debt being pushed into the economy by a central banking system that relies on people not knowing the truth about how debt-free and interest-free money should be created by a nation's treasury!

Last year, a new monetary theory was put forward by Professor Richard Murphy called People's Quantitative Easing. It came into public view when it was embraced by Jeremy Corbyn as a possible answer for dealing with austerity. For all the right reasons it was being advocated. Unfortunately, this complicated process once again involves Britain's central bank, the Bank of England, not HM Treasury, printing money electronically out of nothing as debt (in other words not money that is firmly based on our nation's wealth and potential) in order to buy financial assets like government bonds. However, this newly created debt-laden money would then go not into the private banking system, but would be used more for the public good with investment in our nation's infrastructure. Sadly, this process to create much needed liquidity for the nation is still unnecessarily convoluted and merely adds to the growing debt problem that the Bank for International Settlements and its privately controlled central banking system oversees and encourages.

So the bottom line is this: we don't need things to be unnecessarily complicated and we don't need to involve the private and central bankers (and the debt-creating financial system that they have created) in order to provide a nation with the liquidity it needs. They are a millstone around humanity's neck and can be sent packing! And by Britain bringing back the Treasury-issued Bradbury Pound – a move that would then be copied by democratic governments around the world as people wake up to the truth about banking and money creation - we can, with absolute certainty, collapse the power base of the City of London and cancel austerity, the deficit and the national debt in one fell swoop! Any politician that stands in the way of this common sense and proven method of money creation is exposed simply as either being a fool or a traitor to the British people. PART TWO

What did that Bradbury Pound ever do for us?

What now follows is the Britain we will see when honest politicians (yes, there are a few!) wake up to the truth, common sense and reality of bringing back the Bradbury Pound in order to harness National or Public Credit. The restoration of this historical precedent would very quickly transform the strategic well-being of our country for the better – hugely better! The creation of debt-free and interest-free money by HM Treasury (which is based entirely on our nation's wealth and potential, currently valued by the Office of National Statistics as being in the region of £24 trillion) can then be used immediately to provide the necessary liquidity needed for:

- Supporting and funding the needs of the entire NHS thus preventing any deficit and resulting cutbacks to this essential service.
- Restoring our armed forces back to a level that means we are not dependent upon other countries for the defence of our freedoms and sovereignty.
- Tackling the extremes of climate change by funding new and effective flood protection schemes and coastal defence schemes whilst ensuring proper maintenance is carried out on existing schemes.
- Meeting the costs to upgrade, renew and maintain our strategic transport links, our affordable housing stock and our energy and communications systems.
- Ensuring that the vulnerable and the elderly in our society have all their essential needs met at all times. Some sort of Basic Income Scheme would be implemented to replace the complex and invasive welfare system.
- Immediately abolishing all current student fees whilst ensuring that all future university and general education is free for all.
- Initiating a massive apprenticeship scheme in order to considerably improve Britain's skills and resource base.
- Protecting our strategic and important heavy industries (such as steel, coal, ship-building and aircraft production) from the criminal machinations and flawed priorities of the so-called globalised economy.
- Securing for our national police service the proper funding needed by local constabularies to ensure effective community policing whilst also providing for the other emergency services to ensure that they too provide effective cover across the country.
- Safeguarding our national collections, museums, galleries and industrial heritage sites from cutbacks and closures.
- Providing the appropriate resources needed to secure our borders from unlawful incursions.
- Ending completely the very clear and treasonous trend by government of allowing the creeping privatisation of our services – service to our nation and to our communities must come before profit! The controversial and criminally inspired Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), which is designed simply to make sovereign governments subservient to the powerful transnational corporations, must be completely thrown out and given no chance of coming back!

- Encouraging people to set up their own human-scale businesses and cooperatives by offering real and practical help, including interest-free loans.

When you bear in mind what is really happening to our country today - with the appalling effects that austerity cutbacks are having on families, communities and businesses - it would seem inordinately sensible for the British government to mobilise without delay this National or Public Credit by immediately creating around £500 billion of debt-free and interest-free Treasury-issued Bradbury Pounds. This new sovereign money would then be introduced into the economy by the Treasury (using a network of newly created county public banks) in a targeted and thoroughly responsible way in order to meet the costs incurred from tackling the above 'to-do' list. Such a move would also reduce considerably the tax burden for everyone. And if the City of London and the money markets don't like this, well there's not a lot that they can do about it! By only providing the liquidity needed for the British nation so that it can enjoy real happiness and prosperity, money will once again become the servant of the people.

And if or when this contrived and unlawful global financial collapse does happen, HM Government can, and must, immediately underpin the entire lawful British economy by announcing the immediate and effective return of the Treasury Bradbury Pound so as to prevent any losses to people's savings and pensions or damage to legitimate and law-abiding businesses. In addition, the Bank of England must be fully absorbed into HM Treasury whilst having its links to the criminal global central banking system and the Bank for International Settlements severed with immediate effect. There can be no half measures here – this is a simple case of black and white and there must be no grey area allowed where the fraudulent central bankers and their debt-creating system can hide and re-emerge from! And having just seen the 'one per centers' meet once again in Davos for their annual World Economic Forum get-together, let's remember that this utterly immoral and corrupt global financial system means that today's richest sixty-two people own as much as the poorest half of the world's population!

Conclusion.

The bringing back of the Bradbury Pound would wholly annul the influence and pressures of the international money markets and those who seek to create money completely out of thin air as debt and who make money out of money at the expense of our nation's economic well-being and sovereignty. The hidden privileges and unaccountable influence of the City of London would come to an immediate end, as would the world's central banking system which simply acts as a criminal debt-creating burden for humanity to endure and which benefits solely the 'one per cent' at the expense of all of us.

The reintroduction of the Bradbury Pound would restore integrity into the market place; it would end completely the totally contrived and so-called 'global economic race' that exists solely to frighten and control sovereign nations into compliance with the criminal machinations of the international bankers; and it would restore completely the sovereignty, happiness and overall well-being of the British nation. To bring back the Treasury-issued, debt-free and interest-free Bradbury Pound is a complete no-brainer....unless, of course, you are working for and profiting from the 'one per cent'!

And finally, there may be some very good news - those possible honest politicians I referred to earlier may just be emerging! In November 2013, Early Day Motion 748 was signed by five MPs including a certain Jeremy Corbyn and a certain John McDonnell. Here is this motion in full:

That this House notes that the hundredth anniversary of the Bradbury Pound on 7 August 2014 is a welcome reminder of the historic precedent for public credit as the sound basis for debt-and interest-free Treasury money and therefore the sound alternative to the national debt and interest-bearing bank money; congratulates the Forum for Stable Currencies for having promoted the public credit since 2002; and urges HM Treasury to follow John Bradbury's model and address social, economic and political issues across party lines in one fell swoop and avoid wholly unnecessary austerity cuts.

Here's hoping that we now have politicians of real integrity and wisdom who will now do the right thing for the 'ninety-nine per cent'!

EXTREMELY URGENT: Please support this absolutely vital campaign.....

With this new global financial collapse looming, we urgently need a new and effective campaign to make our decision-makers and, more importantly, their electorates aware of the real and suppressed truth about money creation and money supply. We need to raise a minimum of £60,000 in order to ensure that this strategic campaign of immense importance has a real chance of success.

We need immediate funding for IT, printing, travel expenses and to pay a minimum wage to the immediate campaign team at the British Constitution Group so that we can work full time in getting the truth out.
